HIPPA "Privacy Rule"

Patient Name

As you are aware, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act encompasses significant instructions and requirements regarding the control and care of personal health information. The prevailing sections of the act are commonly known as the HIPPA "Privacy Rule". The rule mandates that numerous precautions be taken and safeguards put in place to protect out patients' personal health information from unwanted disclosure and possible unauthorized use.

As a result, we are giving you our "Business Associate Privacy Agreement". This agreement protects our patients on practice and you as a business associate with whom we might have occasional and necessary circumstances to share pertinent, personal information in order to effectively give proper treatment.

Our practice requires that all those with whom we do business comply with the law and always use their best efforts to serve our patients. Together we can assure our patients that their treatment is superior and that confidence is well placed.

Please sign and return.
